

Panama Canal Congestion

Dear Valued Customer,

As with many other carriers, COSCO has vessels that are being affected by the continued congestion at the Panama Canal. We want you to know that we have taken measures to limit the delays to our vessels. Below is a list of our current vessels, eastbound and westbound, and their scheduled transit dates at the Panama Canal along with the number of days delayed. Please note, however, that schedule estimates are subject to change based on operational conditions.

We will update this page as new information becomes available.

Currently no congestion

Best Regards,

COSCO Container Lines Americas Inc.
